

Regularity properties of the strong maximal operators associated with rectangles

Feng LIU

College of Mathematics and Systems Science, Shandong University of Science and Technology
Qingdao 266590, People's Republic of China
Email: liufeng860314@163.com

It is well known that the maximal operators play an important role in harmonic analysis and partial differential equations. In this talk, we present some regularity properties of the strong maximal operators associated with rectangles, both in continuous case and in discrete case. Some results related to the fractional version, multilinear version and local version are also presented in this talk.